CRRA Garbage Museum Open Longer
During February School Vacation Week
Visitors Invited to View Exhibits and Processing of Recyclables

STRATFORD, Conn. – The Connecticut Resources Recovery Authority Garbage Museum will extend its public hours during the school vacation week of Feb. 19.

The Garbage Museum will be open that week:

- Tuesday, Feb. 19 - 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.
- Wednesday, Feb. 20 – 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.
- Thursday, Feb. 21 – 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.
- Friday, Feb 22 – 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Visitors to the Garbage Museum have an opportunity to tour the museum, take part in a scavenger hunt and create a recycled craft. Guests may also watch the CRRA container and paper recycling facilities in action. Admission and all activities are free of charge.

The Garbage Museum features Trash-o-saurus, a one-ton dinosaur made from salvaged items. The Garbage Museum is located at 1410 Honeyspot Road Extension in Stratford. For more information call (203) 381-9571.

The Connecticut Resources Recovery Authority is a quasi-public agency whose mission is to work for – and in – the best interests of the municipalities of the state of Connecticut. CRRA’s new board of directors and new management team develop and implement environmentally sound solutions and best practices for solid waste disposal and recycling management on behalf of municipalities. CRRA’s four solid waste projects serve 118 Connecticut cities and towns. CRRA also runs environmental and recycling educational programs through the Trash Museum in Hartford and Garbage Museum in Stratford.
