1. RESPONSES TO QUESTIONS

This addendum provides responses to questions received as of May 18, 2012.

1.	Question	The RFEI specifies that the electronic copy is required to be submitted by 4pm local time on June 1, 2012, and that one hard copy of the submission is also required to be sent to CRRA. Does the hard copy also need to be received by CRRA by 4pm, June 1, or can that be received after the electronic submission deadline?
	Answer	Hard copy submissions should be postmarked or recorded as picked up for overnight delivery no later than June 1, 2012. Electronic submissions must be received by 4PM (local time), June 1, 2012.
2.	Question	I will be in/near Hartford on other business. Would you be interested in meeting to discuss our company and our process?
	Answer	At this point in the solicitation process, it is premature for us to meet face to face with any prospective submitters. After June 1, when we have received and reviewed the submitted RFEIs, CRRA may schedule follow up conversations with individual submitters by phone or in person.
3.	Question	If we indicate that we can address any of the project sizes, but we only submit detailed pricing and drawings for a 100 ton/day size, will that exclude us from being eligible to compete for the other size projects?
	Answer	No, it would not preclude you from participating in a future RFP or other solicitation. Please note that the information garnered from this RFEI may be used in the development of a future RFP.
4.	Question	What is the time frame that CRRA expects to release an RFP for this project?
	Answer	Our timeframe will be influenced by the information that we receive from this RFEI, but our current planning-level timeframe is to try to have an RFP prepared within 12 months of receiving the RFEIs.
5.	Question	Our firm cannot complete an expression of interest for this RFEI by June 1. Can we request that the deadline for submissions be changed to June 29, 2012?
	Answer	Due to the importance of considering this information in a timely manner, the deadline for submission of Expressions of Interest will remain June 1, 2012.
