

CONNECTICUT RESOURCES RECOVERY AUTHORITY

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

May 11, 2007

Further Information: Paul Nonnenmacher, (860) 757-7771

E-mail: pnonnenmacher@crra.org

Sotoria Montanari, (860) 757-7764

E-mail: smontanari@crra.org

Garbage Museum to Hold Family Fun Day May 19

Museum Features Exhibits, Tours, Crafts and View of Processing Center – All Free

STRATFORD, Conn. – The Connecticut Resources Recovery Authority Garbage Museum will hold another popular Family Fun Day event on May 19. Families and scouts are invited to participate in tours of the museum, explore exhibits and create a craft made from recycled materials. The recycled craft provides a list of recyclables glued onto a refrigerator magnet and serves as a reminder of items that should be placed in a recycle bin.

Guests can visit with Trash-o-Saurus, a one-ton dinosaur made from salvaged items. Visitors take part in scavenger hunts by searching for re-used treasures on the dinosaur. Additionally, families may join in an all-time favorite activity, Trash Bash and view the CRRA container recycling facility.

“The activities are fun and engaging for families,” said Sotoria Montanari, education supervisor. “We are open for a limited number of Saturdays throughout the year, so this day presents an opportunity for families to see what the Garbage Museum has to offer.”

The Garbage Museum is located at 1410 Honeyspot Road Extension. For more information, contact (203)381-9571 or go to <http://www.crra.org> and click on “Education Centers.”

The Connecticut Resources Recovery Authority is a quasi-public agency whose mission is to work for-and in-the best interests of the municipalities of the state of Connecticut. CRRA’s new board of directors and new management team develop and implement environmentally sound solutions and best practices for solid waste disposal and recycling management on behalf of municipalities. CRRA also runs environmental and recycling education programs through its Trash Museum in Hartford and Garbage Museum in Stratford. For more information about CRRA and its activities, visit <http://www.crra.org>.