

CONNECTICUT RESOURCES RECOVERY AUTHORITY

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

December 7, 2007

Further Information: Paul Nonnenmacher, (860) 757-7771

E-mail: pnonnenmacher@crra.org

Sotora Montanari, (860) 757-7764

E-mail: smontanari@crra.org

CRRR Garbage Museum Open Longer During December School Vacation Week Visitors Invited to View Exhibits and Processing of Recyclables

STRATFORD, Conn. – The Connecticut Resources Recovery Authority Garbage Museum will extend its public hours during the school vacation week of Dec. 26.

The Garbage Museum will be open that week:

- Wednesday, Dec. 26 – 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.
- Thursday, Dec. 27 – 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.
- Friday, Dec 28 – 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Visitors to the Garbage Museum have an opportunity to tour the museum, take part in a scavenger hunt and create a recycled craft. Guests may also watch the CRRR container recycling facilities in action. Admission and all activities are free of charge.

The Garbage Museum features Trash-o-saurus, a one-ton dinosaur made from salvaged items. The Garbage Museum is located at 1410 Honeyspot Road Extension in Stratford. For more information call (203) 381-9571.

To find out more about CRRR education centers, go to <http://www.crra.org> and click on “Education.”

The Connecticut Resources Recovery Authority is a quasi-public agency whose mission is to work for-and in – the best interests of the municipalities of the state of Connecticut. CRRR’s new board of directors and new management team develop and implement environmentally sound solutions and best practices for solid waste disposal and recycling management on behalf of municipalities. CRRR also runs environmental and recycling educational programs through its Visitors Center in Hartford and Garbage Museum in Stratford. For more information about CRRR and its activities, visit <http://www.crra.org>.